Attention..all Past & Present Members of INCRAP.
(INstitute of CartogRAPhers)

The Director of INCRAP (Mike Novak) has received information from reliable sources that the mysterious Toolern Triangle (shown here) that was discovered during The Shortest Day TA, has disappeared into a black hole, possibly a vortex having mysteriously re-appearing at a undisclosed location.

Toolern Triangle

The vortex has not only displaced the phenomena, but reports have it duplicated it with 2 very similar mirror images.

Having been informed of this, the Director has travelled to the location using different styles of Maps that had been supplied and is pleased to report that the information is indeed correct. (Evilly rubs hands, oops)

Mapped roads have mysteriously vanished, others bent straight, whilst new roads have somehow appeared?

A detailed examination by the INCRAP Survey team has some shed light on this phenomenon; however it has been inconclusive and needs further investigation.

Considering the failure of the Survey Party, it has been decided that ONLY a complete assembly of Past, Present & Future Members of INCRAP are capable of deciphering the vast array of maps that the Director has researched and collected in his field trips.

The HRA has been called to ARMS.....INCRAP needs your help!
